While the above list is in hierarchal order, funds may be allocated in all categories even though only portions of each program may have active projects. The State Library prefers to work across broad fronts at this time so that many facets of library service may be explored and evaluated.

2.0 State Institutional Library Service.

2.1 Purpose.

The objective is to provide to state institutionalized persons an opportunity to develop their educational, economic, and cultural potential through the utilization of library services.

2.3 Assessment of needs.

The population in each of the state institutions has access to a library located within the institution. The quantity and quality of library services varies among the institutions. The nature of the library depends upon the special characteristics of the clientele served. In general, additional staff, materials, equipment and space are needed in each of the libraries in the institutions. National library standards appropriate to each institution is an objective to be attained. Each institution will undertake an assessment of their clientele's need for improved library service. Since the library is an integral part of the institution's program of education, treatment, or care, the staff of the institution, in consultation with the State Librarian, and in accordance with the national standards, shall provide a needs assessment as part of their annual application for LSCA funds.

As of April 1, 1972, there are 750 persons certified to receive library service from the Regional Library for the Blind or Handicapped. An additional 400 persons are considered to be potential users of this service.

3.3 Assessment of needs.

This population group is, to a large extent, immobile because of their physical limitations. Thus, it is necessary to provide special means to bring library service and the person together. The State Library will use the resources of the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, the State Social Services Department, the Department of Health, and other public and private agencies to locate persons with physical handicaps who qualify for this special library service.

Because of the population group's inability to read conventionally printed material, special library material must be provided, such as tape cassettes, talking books, braille, and large print books. Special equipment may also be necessary, such as automatic page turners, tape cassette players, and special 8 1/3 rpm record players.

Staff working with this population group may require special training.

4.1 Purpose.

To assist officials and employees in carrying out their duties and responsibilities in conducting the business of their office and the state government as a whole by providing access to library and information service.

4.2 Assessment of needs.

The complex nature of state government responsibilities and services with its broad scope and infinite detail; inter-agency and intergovernmental relationships; the intra-agency development of planning and management techniques; taxation-financing problems; the continuing goal of general citizen welfare; all these challenges require access to an organized broad collection of pertinent, high quality and timely information resources.

The government personnel served by the State Library information services are located in the 125 state agencies in the capitol city of Bismarck and the adjacent community of Mandan, consisting of approximately 2,500 employees. There are an additional 2,650 state employees at other locations in the state (not including those at the state academic institutions) who have access to State Library services via mail, CATS and WATS or regular telephone service and in some cases by teletype.

The state judiciary consults the local courthouse law collections, the Supreme Court Law Library in Bismarck, or the library at the University of North Dakota Law School, Grand Forks. The State Library buys only general books in the field of courts and judicial administration, law and legal problems, tax and business law, and other aspects of law which are of general public interest.

The larger executive departments in the Bismarck area have their own specialized information collections to fill basic staff research and reference needs related to the statutory functions of their respective agencies. The larger of the departmental libraries are in the Highway Department, Business and Industrial Development Department, Health (including Mental Health and Retardation), Public Instruction, Social Services, and Vocational Education Departments.

The Legislative Council has a collection of documents and reports from other states and provides research service for the Legislature.

The State Historical Society operates a special library on the history of North Dakota and the surrounding area.

All of these larger agencies tend to use the State Library for supplemental services by requests through the departmental librarians although employees may, and frequently do, deal directly with the State Library. The many smaller agencies in the area are dependent primarily upon the State Library for all but the most technical reference tools and very specialized professional directories, journals, and periodic reporting services.

At present, the State Library is located about one mile north of the Capitol Building. Space in the Capitol Building is needed for a reference service on government functions which would include a select collection of Federal and State documents for frequently used reference tools and serial services and recent issues of periodicals and professional journals relating to government and current affairs. The reference service would need a professional staff familiar with the government collection at the State Library and experienced in government and/or the social sciences as well as in library services. Such a staff would furnish immediate answers to official phone or personal requests for information, or would know how to obtain the information within a reasonable time. Deliveries of material housed at the State Library would be furnished regularly twice a day to the Government Reference Library in the Capitol or even more quickly if the need arises.

4.3 Policy.

It is the policy of the State Library to provide the highest level of service possible to all branches of state government and to the general public on matters relating to state government.

4.4 Program activities.

A. State government information collection - The State Library is placing special emphasis on selecting material on state government, government administration, state legislatures, current governmental affairs and subject-matter of concern to state government.

The State Library subscribes to 32 periodicals and journals devoted to functions of state government and government administration. The library has a special collection of U. S. Bureau of the Census volumes dating back several decades, and is a U. S. Depository Library able to receive whatever federal government documents the State desires.

B. North Dakota State Document Depository. This collection, which is part of the State Library reference services, is a legally required function. All agencies of state government are required by law to provide twelve copies of each of their publications to the State Library for distribution to specified major libraries in the state and to the Library of Congress. These document depositories are a way of dispersing throughout the state for public use the periodic reports and special studies made in state agencies. It serves to preserve state documents for research purposes, accountability, and to provide a source of information on education, taxes, and government financing, health data, environment information, and state planning, among many others, and provides a complete record of the activities of the State Legislature, and recently, of the Constitutional Convention.

All state documents since 1965 have been microfilmed and have been indexed by agency and title on the state computer system.

C. Network of Knowledge. The Network of Knowledge is described elsewhere as a service of the State Library to all the libraries and institutions of the state. It is an essential service also for fulfilling the information requirements of state government. Its services will be expanded when a reference library is established in the Capitol, since data from the departments of government will be more accessible to the State Library and so will the reference resources of the Supreme Court Law Library and the Library of the State Historical Society.

D. Technical Services. The State Library would like to offer to the departmental libraries in state government the possibility of having their acquisitioning, book preparation and cataloging done in the Technical Processing Division of the State Library. This is now being done with some educational materials which are shelved and circulated in the State Library with the willing cooperation of the Director of Library Services of the Department of Public Instruction, and the State Real Estate Commission.

E. Publications. The State Library issues several series of publications, one of which is specifically directed to the interests of state agencies. It is entitled Recent Publications on Governmental Affairs, and is a periodic listing of selected new publications and articles on governmental functions.

The library also issues a monthly list of selected library acquisitions, arranged by broad subject headings, many of which relate to some function of state government. It is entitled Flickertale Selections and has a wide circulation in state agencies.

North Dakota State Publications, a semi-annual listing of North Dakota state publications received by the State Library for distribution to the state document depositories. State agencies can determine what other state agencies are publishing and they can also check to be sure that their own agency is consistently filing 12 copies of their publications with the State Library.

North Dakota Library Notes is a series which often contains bibliographies. Some are for special interest groups, some for general use. A bibliography on state constitutions and constitutional revision has both governmental and public use. There is a bibliography on the administration of justice and jury trials which serves government, the public, and high school debate teams which were given this subject for debate in 1971-72. As the need arises and staff time permits, bibliographies are prepared and distributed.

Tape Cassette Catalogs are issued. Each catalog is devoted to a specific subject area. A recent one includes government, religion, ecology, economics, education, and world affairs.

F. A Union List of Periodicals received by the various state agencies in the Bismarck-Mandan area was compiled and published in 1971. A new 1973 edition has been published.

G. State Agency Interviews. An agency interview program was initiated with the purpose to familiarize agency administrators with services the State Library is able to provide to State Government. The interviewer also inquires about the extent of information material in the agency and how much information is required by the agency from outside sources. What sources do they use and what staff is assigned to gather information and care for the collection in the agency? The interviewer suggests services from the State Library which may be useful in relation to specific needs of the agency. The indications are that agencies desire better organization of their own library and appreciate information on other information sources. The interviewer talks with department librarians or library clerks as well as with administrators. Many agency administrators are very glad to know what services the State Library has to offer and they want to receive relevant library publications and be notified of new library materials related to the work of their agency.

H. Periodical Scanning. There are many books and periodical publications received regularly by the State Library which relate to state government, political science and public administration. An effort is made to scan these publications as they arrive. Books and significant articles are photocopied and referred to appropriate state government professional employees and agency administrators.

I. Collection Building. The State Library is giving special emphasis to acquisition of information materials dealing with staff responsibilities common to all state agencies, such as accounting and budgeting, program planning, staffing and personnel training, and office management. It is also gathering materials on subject areas relating to state agency functions. Another area receiving attention is the selection of material relating to current social problems - delinquency, drug and alcohol abuse, law enforcement, fire protection services, accident prevention and safety, ecology, environment, and consumer protection. Several multi-media courses have been purchased from the American Management Association to develop managerial understanding and skills in state officials and employees.

J. Special Collections. When the state undertakes a special program such as constitutional revision, the State Library assumes responsibility for gathering information on the subject. From various sources, the library built up a collection of books and pamphlets on constitutions and constitutional revision, and it assembled documents and reports from North Dakota files and from other states recently involved in rewriting or revising their constitutions and holding constitutional conventions. The library served the delegates and staff of the convention and the general public. The State Library subscribed to a statewide clipping service on the Constitutional Convention, and is compiling a chronological history of the convention by means of organized photocopying of news articles, editorial and columnist comment, letters to the editors, and cartoons.

4.5 Coordination.

State government is a civic and social function of society; the State Library is a binding element between the people and their government. The library gathers many kinds of material, much of it useful for the state legislature and executive agencies of the government. At the same time, much of this material, acquired because of its relevance to government, will be on subjects of interest to varying proportions of the state's population. By being a part of the State Library collection, government subject-matter material automatically becomes available for academic and public use for general reading, research purposes and informal education. In other words, coordinating library services to state government with service to the public through public and academic libraries in the state is fulfilling one of the State Library's legal responsibilities "...to make library materials available to libraries throughout the state (and) to individuals connected with departments of state...".

4.6 Evaluation of projects and programs.

Periodic evaluations will be made by the State Librarian and staff and the results of such evaluations reported.

5.0 Statewide Information and Library Services.

5.1 Purpose.

The objective is to assist the people of North Dakota to develop their educational, economic, cultural, and spiritual potential through the availability of adequate information and library service.

5.2 Assessment of needs.

A. Public Library Service.

In general terms, one-third of the state's 617,761 population is without locally supported public library service, one-third has locally supported public library service so inadequate that its contribution to local educational and cultural opportunities is minimal, and one-third has locally supported public library service at a reasonable, though nationally inadequate, level. The latter one-third of the population is located in the major cities.

No library in the state meets state or national standards. Only twenty-one out of the state's fifty-three counties provide some level of public library support. Sixty incorporated cities support public library service through city taxes. Few of these cities and counties have a sufficient tax base to provide adequate public library service. On a statewide basis, public funds for public library service are expended in these categories:

1. Public Libraries in Cities with Population of:	Number of Cities	Percent of State Population	Percent of Total Local Library Income	Per Capita Tax Income
30,000 or more	4	26	51	$3.75
5,000 to 15,000	9	8	18	2.51
5,000 or less	47	9	6	1.39
TOTAL	60	43	75	$2.96

2. County Library Service	Number of Counties	Percent of State Population	Percent of Total Local Library Income	Per Capita Tax Income
	21	23	25	$1.96

3. Cities with no Local Supported Library Service	300	34	-0-	-0-
TOTAL CITIES	360	TOTAL-100	100	$2.58

The greatest need for improved public library service is in the rural areas and small towns which have the least population density and declining tax base. These areas of greatest need are also those areas of greatest resistance to local tax increase for any purpose.

B. School Library Service.

All high school districts in the state are evaluated and rated by the State Department of Public Instruction. There are 16 level 1 districts, 47 level 2 districts, 163 level 3 districts, and 46 non-accredited districts in the state. Generally, the level of library service is related to the accreditation level of the school district. The bulk of the schools require supplemental library service from the State Library.*

C. Academic Library Service.

There are 15 institutions of higher learning in the state and each has a library, although at a level less than national standards. Some supplementary library service is provided by the State Library.*

D. Special Library Service.

There are 30 special libraries (medical, law, historical, wildlife, etc.) in the state and they are at varying levels of adequacy. Some supplementary library service is provided by the State Library.*

E. Direct Service to Individuals.

Since two-thirds of the state's population is either without local library service or at a less than "barebones" level, a large part of the State Library's service is directed toward this clientele.

5.3 The State Library Collection.

The State Library has been collecting material since 1907. In recent years much emphasis has been placed upon the "newer media" which includes tape cassettes, sound filmstrips, and 8mm films. At this time 1/3 of the use of the library is of the "newer media" and is expected to increase over the years. Books, magazines, and pamphlets will remain, however, important staples of the State Library collection.

*Not included in LSCA funding. State funded.

The State Library collection consists of:

Books: 50,000 adult information
7,000 adult fiction
5,000 juvenile

Periodicals: Current subscriptions limited to governmental affairs and librarianship.

Tape cassettes: 5,000 (popular, classical music, old time radio programs, children's stories, educational subjects)

Filmstrips: 250 (varied educational subjects)

State documents: Depository file since 1965.

North Dakota Network for Knowledge: A statewide interlibrary loan system designed to supplement the resources available at local libraries.

5.4 Program activities.

5.41 Direct service to individuals.

Information service is provided to persons directly at the State Library, or by telephone, or by mail. However, certain channels of access are expected to be used to assure maximum utilization of local library resources and services, where they exist.

5.42 Supplementary information service to libraries.

Except in our major cities, school and public libraries are usually small and need a large resource center to call upon for additional material (books, magazines, filmstrips, tape cassettes). The larger school and public libraries, and academic and special libraries call upon the State Library for materials of a more specialized nature and for the location of materials in other libraries via the "Network for Knowledge."

5.43 Consultant services.

The State Library staff makes periodic visits to public libraries and to other libraries upon request, to assist them in improvement of services or with special problems.

5.44 Library service centers.

The State Library provides grants or materials in lieu of grants, to selected local libraries. These libraries provide free service to persons living outside the jurisdiction supporting the local library. These libraries, in effect, operate as service centers of the State Library by providing State Library services closer to the home of many persons living in areas without or with inadequate local library service.

5.45 Special projects.

The beginning of a computer produced book catalog will be undertaken by entering selected subject material onto computer tape. Completion of the project would be in fiscal 1975.

A bicentennial project will be started this fiscal year. The content of the project is yet undetermined.

5.5 Policies, priorities, coordination.

5.51 Policies.

The State Library will use Library Services and Construction Act funds to achieve adequate library service to all citizens of the state.

The State Library will encourage local initiative and financial support and wide citizen participation in library development.

The State Library will seek increased state financial responsibility and support.

The State Library will foster the development of regional center libraries which will extend their services to their surrounding area as designated by the State Library.

Local libraries will be encouraged to affiliate with a regional resource library.

The State Library will serve as the apex of the state's system of libraries and will provide a resource of materials and services which will supplement and coordinate the services of all other libraries.

5.52 Priorities.

The highest priority shall be assigned to strengthening the State Library to serve citizens through local libraries and regional library systems, with library resources not available locally or regionally so that all the people of the state shall have access to the full range of reference and educational materials. The State Library is responsible for planning, coordination, and statewide library development.

Additional priorities:

a. Designating points of library strength of varying degrees and types at various locations throughout the state which will be supported in whole or in part, by resource grants from the State Library. State Standards of measurement (materials, staff, space, services) must be met or have the potential of being met in a reasonable period of time.

b. Provision of access of these points of library strength for all citizens of the state and which will be supported by service grants from the State Library. Each library participating in the State Plan must be a participant in the statewide inter-library cooperation network and of the system in the region.

c. Provision of the extension of service from these points of library strength to areas of the state which have no or inadequate library service. This extension of service may be by direct mail, book-mobile, stations or branches, or by other means. Such extension of service will be funded by local appropriations by participating local governments to which local library service has been extended and/or by State Library grants.

5.53 Coordination.

a. Coordination shall be effected by the State Library to the greatest extent possible with other sections in this State Plan and with other federal, state, and local programs.

b. Whenever possible, persons working with other related library programs or projects shall be invited to participate in the planning and evaluation of the programs or projects enumerated in this section of the State Plan.

Statewide evaluation will be accomplished by the North Dakota Advisory Council on Libraries and its resource members.

5.82 Reporting.

a. Appropriate dissemination of the results of evaluation and other information pertaining to the programs and projects is required.

b. Descriptive and evaluative reports will be prepared by local, regional, and state advisory groups and submitted to the State Library at least annually. A descriptive and evaluative annual report will be prepared and published by the State Library.

5.83 Audits.

An annual audit prepared by a state auditor or a CPA shall be submitted by the grantee to the State Library within twelve (12) months after the close of the fiscal year in which a grant was awarded. The audit shall show local, state, and federal funds expended for the library program in categories required by the State Library.

6.0 Library Services to Groups of Persons.

6.1 Purpose.

The objective is to provide an opportunity to special groups of persons to develop their educational, economic, and cultural potential through the use of library service.

6.2 Description of population groups.

In North Dakota, there are 66,368 senior citizens, many of whom are not library users because of lack of interest, low reading skills, home-bound or institution-bound because of physical handicaps or lack of transportation.

There are 14,369 Indians in North Dakota residing on four reservations and in various cities throughout the state.

There are an unknown number of physically handicapped persons who can read conventionally printed materials but cannot use traditional library service.

Pre-school children are a large group which may be target groups for public library service.

More well known groups utilizing public library services are business and professional groups and civic and cultural organizations.

6.3 Assessment of needs.

An important need in attempting to serve these special population groups is to determine and locate or produce appropriate materials to satisfy their needs and interests. Large-print books, tape cassettes of old radio programs, instructional recordings on many subjects may be suitable library materials for senior citizens. Pre-school children would require picture books, beginning readers, tape cassette recordings of stories and instructional material.

The long time users of public libraries, such as civic, professional, and cultural groups more often use the usual materials available in libraries, but are usually lacking in quantity, variety, and depth in our public libraries.

Since a physical handicap can strike a person at any stage of his development, the variety and depth of library materials would be similar to the non-handicapped. The problem would be delivery of service.

Low educational attainment and high school drop-out rates are characteristic of areas of high concentration of low-income families whether they be urban or rural.

Cultural, economic, and political poverty are a product of a poor self-image on the part of the individual and to the group of which he is a part. The poor self-image is a product of many interwoven factors, none of which improved library service will correct by itself. However, improved library service can be a means by which a percentage of poverty-bound persons can improve their self-image through reading cultural materials about their race or class, or to improve their skills and educational attainment so as to raise them from the poverty level. The founding purpose of public libraries in the nineteenth century was thus.

Disadvantaged persons, regardless of the specific disadvantage or where they reside, will require the design and implementation of special library delivery services to these persons and in conjunction with other public services before any significant improvement will occur.

Many disadvantaged persons are scattered far and wide in rural North Dakota and library service is provided to these persons in State Plan section 5 - Statewide Information and Library Service.

6.4 Policies, programs, priorities, coordination.

6.41 Policies.

It is the policy of the State Library that the needs of special groups of persons be considered in the provision of public library service.

6.42 Programs.

(2) Traditional mail delivery service.

(3) Special transportation of the handicapped to the library by a library staff member in a library vehicle, or by providing free public transportation (bus or taxi), or in a private car by volunteers.

6.93 Audits.

An annual audit prepared by a state auditor or a CPA shall be submitted by any grantee to the State Library within twelve (12) months after the close of the fiscal year in which a grant was awarded. The audit shall show local, state, and federal funds expended for the library program in categories required by the State Library.

7.0 Development of public library service.

7.1 Purpose.

The objectives are to provide funds to improve specific library services, to demonstrate library service to unserved areas, to foster governmental re-organization of local library units, or to aid in minor remodeling of publicly owned buildings used as a public library.

7.2 Assessment of needs.

a. Governmental reorganization.

North Dakota has need for governmental reorganization of local units of public library service. At minimum, those cities and counties which maintain separate library operations in the same city and in some cases in the same building, need to be merged or consolidated.

All cities in North Dakota are small by national standards and need a larger tax base than their present one. City-county and multi-county operations which would provide an adequate tax base are required for improved library service.

b. Demonstration of library service.

Since only twenty-one of the state's fifty-three counties support local public library service, demonstrations may be needed at the county and multi-county levels to extend service to the unserved areas and to secure local tax support.

c. The development of community library service in communities under 2500 population by extending and augmenting the services of the school media center to the entire community may be a possible alternative to the development of separate public library service.

d. Remodeling.

Minor remodeling of existing public library buildings under certain conditions can help facilitate improved library service. Many of the libraries are in old buildings and when the declining population does not warrant new construction, minor remodeling may be in order.

e. Specific library services.

Among the general inadequacies of the state's public libraries are specific inadequacies which, because of national, state, or local concern, need to be singled out for special attention and rectification.

7.3 Policies.

It is the policy of the State Library to:

a. Encourage the development of enlarged local tax bases for public library service by combining city and county libraries and establishing multi-county libraries.

b. Demonstrate library service in those areas not served or inadequately served with public library service, and which have the potential of providing local tax support to sustain the service.

c. Experiment with the development of community library service in communities under 2500 population.

7.4 Programs.

a. Grants may be made to facilitate the merger or consolidation of libraries where improved library service to the public will result.

b. Grants may be made to demonstrate public library service in areas where service does not exist or is inadequate.

c. Grants may be made to school districts for the development of community library service.

d. Grants may be made for minor remodeling of public libraries which will result in improved service.

e. Grants may be made for specific library services, such as drug education, environmental concern, etc.

7.5 Priorities.

Priorities for projects in this section of the State Plan:

a. Merger or consolidation.

b. Demonstration.

c. Community library service.

d. Specific library services.

e. Minor remodeling.

7.6 Eligible agencies to administer projects.

b. Public libraries established and maintained in accordance with North Dakota Century Code 40-38-01/03.

c. School districts operating community libraries in accordance with State Library standards.

d. State or community colleges operating regional libraries in accordance with State Library standards.

7.91 Evaluation.

Evaluation of individual projects will be accomplished by local and regional advisory groups appointed by the State Library.

Statewide evaluation of projects and of the program will be accomplished by the North Dakota Advisory Council on Libraries and its resource members.

7.92 Reporting.

Appropriate dissemination of the results of evaluation and other information pertaining to the program and projects is required.

Descriptive and evaluative reports on programs and projects will be prepared by the local and regional advisory groups and submitted at least annually to the State Library. An annual report will be prepared and published by the State Library.

7.93 Audit.

An annual audit prepared by a state auditor or a CPA shall be submitted by any grantee to the State Library within twelve (12) months after the close of the fiscal year in which a grant was awarded. The audit shall show state and federal funds expended for the library program in categories required by the State Library.

8.0 Planning, Research, Education.

8.1 Purpose.

The objectives are:

a. Planning: The process of planning will be a continuous effort on the part of the State Library to build and maintain a high level of library service in North Dakota.

b. Research: To gather basic data about libraries, library activities, librarians, library programs, information and reading needs, and other related information to be analyzed and synthesized for use in the planning process.

c. Education: To upgrade the educational attainment of public library staff so that a higher quality of service is available to the library user; to effectively promote the services of libraries.

8.2 Assessment of needs.

Library service in North Dakota needs improvement as has been indicated under the various sections of this Plan. Planning and research are essential components of the process of improvement and will be emphasized in this Plan.

The educational attainment of public librarians needs to be increased. North Dakota has 45 municipal public libraries, 13 county or multicounty libraries, and 15 association libraries. However, there are only 8 public librarians with master's degrees in librarianship. About 10 have college degrees in other fields. The remaining employees have little or no library education or training.

Much training needs to be done in the area of public relations, so that present library services are better known to the public and that needs are effectively presented to the various governing bodies.

8.3 Policies.

It is the policy of the State Library to provide leadership in the areas of planning, research and education so as to improve library service in North Dakota libraries.

8.4 Programs.

a. Planning and research may be undertaken by the State Library by:

(1) Engaging trained personnel in the areas of planning and research.
(2) Commissioning research projects to provide data and designs for improving library services.
(3) Appointing state, regional, and local advisory councils consisting of librarians and laymen.

b. Educational opportunities for public librarians will be provided through:

(1) Tuition reimbursement for undergraduate library science courses successfully completed at North Dakota colleges and selected correspondence schools.
(2) Workshops and institutes designed to improve the immediate and long-range quality of services in public libraries.
(3) Encourage and aid in establishing library workshops and courses in designated urban areas to facilitate upgrading of public library staff educational attainment without excessive loss of staff time.
(4) Develop and encourage on-the-job training programs.

c. A program of certification of public librarians will be instituted. Various levels of competency will be formally recognized in clearly defined categories.

8.5 Reports.

Reports prepared by research and planning groups shall be made available to the North Dakota Advisory Council on Libraries and to other interested parties.

8.6 Eligible participants.

Educational opportunities are limited to persons employed in a public library at least fifteen hours per week and who agree to continue to work in a public library for at least one year after receiving a tuition reimbursement.

Planning and research projects may be awarded to any public or private agency or person who can demonstrate competency to undertake the assignment.

8.7 Evaluation of projects and programs.

Periodic evaluation of various projects and programs will be undertaken by the State Library and/or the North Dakota Advisory Council on Libraries.

The results of such evaluations shall be reported.

9.0 Grants-in-aid for Improved Public Library Service.

9.1 Purpose.

The objective is to provide supplemental funds to libraries so as to improve services, stimulate increased local support, and meet state standards.

9.2 Description of population.

North Dakota has sixty public libraries serving 448,751 people. In addition, 169,010 persons live in areas without locally supported public library services. (See Section 5.2 (A) for detail of needs).

9.3 Assessment of needs.

Public libraries are basically supported by local property tax funds. In 1971, ninety-one percent of public library support was from local tax funds. Six percent was from federal funds administered by the State Library. Three percent was from all other sources. No state funds are available for grants to local public libraries.

The local tax base upon which public libraries depend is too small to support an adequate public library service. The mill levy limitation is four mills on city libraries and two mills on county libraries. Many libraries, particularly the counties, do not levy even the two mills permitted. State grants-in-aid would provide federal funds, and eventually state funds, to supplement the local tax base.

9.4 Policies and programs.

9.41 Policy.

It is the policy of the State Library to equalize the level of library service throughout the state. To provide supplemental funds is one method used to move toward equalization.

9.42 Program.

The formula for grants-in-aid to qualifying libraries is:

a. The available funds for this program would be distributed to qualifying libraries on the basis of local tax effort and on the basis of the number of persons living in the area supporting the library. Thus, if $10,000 were available to a total population of 100,000 persons, then the per capita rate would be 10¢.

If a library served a city of 3,750 persons, the grant would be $375.00.

b. In lieu of a cash grant, the State Library may provide:

(1) Credit for the purchase of library materials at the State Library or at a regional library.

(2) Services from the State Library or from a regional library.

9.5 Eligible libraries to receive grants-in-aid.

To qualify for a grant-in-aid, the public library is required to:

a. Be established and maintained according to the North Dakota Century Code sections 40-38-01 and 40-38-02.

b. Have a board of directors appointed and serve according to North Dakota Century Code 40-38-03.

c. Have an annual audit by a state auditor or a CPA and forward a copy to the State Library.

d. Provide free library service to all persons in the geographical area supporting the library.

e. Submit an annual narrative and statistical report to the State Library providing information specified by the State Library.

f. Be open to the public as least fifteen hours a week, including some evening and Saturday hours.

g. Employ a library director certified by the State Library.

h. Levy at least 4 mills on the net assessed valuation in cities and 2 mills on the net assessed valuation in counties.

i. Participate in the North Dakota Network for Knowledge.

To qualify for grant-in-aid, community libraries must meet the qualifications set forth in North Dakota Standards for Community Library Service from School Media Centers, and

1. Be certified by the State Library and the State Department of Public Instruction as a Community Library.

2. Meet minimum standards for school media centers set by the State Department of Public Instruction.

3. Levy by the city or county supporting the library at least 4 mills on the net assessed valuation in cities and 2 in counties. This levy is in addition to any school district levies.

9.6 Evaluation.

At least every two years, before the convening of the State Legislature, evaluation of state grants-in-aid shall be done by an advisory group appointed by the State Library.

9.7 Audits.

An annual audit prepared by a state auditor or a CPA shall be submitted by the grantee to the State Library within twelve (12) months after the close of the fiscal year in which the grant was awarded. The audit shall show funds expended for the library program in categories required by the State Library.

10.0 Interlibrary Cooperation (Library Services and Construction Act, Title III).

10.1 Purpose.

The objective is the systematic and effective coordination of the resources and services of public, school, academic, and special libraries and other special information centers so that improved services of a supplementary nature is achieved to the special clientele (users) served by each type of library or center.

10.2 Description of population group.

There are fifteen academic libraries; sixty public libraries; two-hundred-fifty high school libraries; and thirty special libraries in North Dakota. These libraries (except high school libraries) are listed in the Directory of North Dakota Libraries, published annually by the State Library. The combined resources of materials and staff is enormous when compared to any one library. There are over 1,000,000 books and related materials and many professional staff members and other specialists available.

10.3 Assessment of needs.

All libraries in North Dakota are inadequate by national or state standards. No library is an island unto itself, that is, self-sufficient for all the needs of its clientele.

While each library is different in character and usage, sufficient common ground exists in technical processes and in policies of use that a network of interlibrary cooperation is needed and is feasible to supplement each other's needs.

10.4 Policies, programs, priorities, coordination.

10.41 Policies.

The State Library believes that all library resources in the state should be interrelated to the end that all kinds of libraries are fully utilized to make it possible for all North Dakota residents to have the opportunity to obtain the services and materials needed.

The State Library believes that the primary library service to the clientele of each kind of library is the responsibility of the library and its parent agency. Nothing in this State Plan shall be construed to the contrary, therefore, library service to students in relation to class assignments is the prime responsibility of the school in which the student is enrolled. Other libraries may provide supplementary service to the student through the school library or directly as local procedures permit.

Public library responsibility is to the whole community from which it receives its support and should apportion its services to the needs of the community, taking into consideration other library, reading, or informational resources so as to minimize unnecessary duplication of materials and services.

10.42 Programs.

a. Statewide network.

The North Dakota Network for Knowledge is maintained and operated by the State Library. It is a central catalog of library materials (print and audio-visual) located in Bismarck, consisting of the holdings of the twenty-five largest libraries in the state. 11.0 Public Library Construction (Library Services and Construction Act, Title II).

11.1 Introduction.

Federal Library Services and Construction Act funds under Title II are allotted to the State Library for the purpose of paying the federal share of the cost of public library construction projects which result in a usable public library building and is in conformance to the North Dakota State Plan. d. Accessibility to handicapped persons. Except as otherwise provided for in the regulations issued by the Administrator of General Services (41 CFR Part 101-17) to implement Public Law 90-480 (42 U.S.C. ch. 51), the library facility shall be designed, constructed, or altered with funds under the Act in accordance with the maximum standards contained in the "American Standard Specifications for Making Buildings and Facilities Accessible to, and Usable by, the Physically Handicapped, Number A117.1-1961," approved by the American Standards Association, Inc. (subsequently changed to United States of America Standards Institute). The completed library facility shall display in a prominent place the "International Symbol of Access for the Handicapped".

e. Competitive bidding. All construction contracts shall be awarded to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder on the basis of open competitive bidding, and whenever possible there shall be three or more bidders. The State Librarian shall review bid documents for required inclusion of wage determination and compliance with federal wage and nondiscrimination regulations.

f. Elaborate or extravagant design or materials. The project will be undertaken in an economic manner and will not be elaborate or extravagant in design or materials. This includes designs that may result in uneconomical heating, lighting and maintenance costs.

g. Display of signs. The sites of the construction project shall display a sign stating that federal funds under the Library Services and Construction Act and the North Dakota State Library are being used for such construction. When specifications call for a plaque in the completed building indicating the date of completion and source of funds, the federal funds under the Act and the North Dakota State Library shall be noted.

11.9 State and Regional Clearinghouse approval.

All applications for construction must be reviewed by the State Clearinghouse and by the Regional Clearinghouse in those areas of the state where required.

STATEWIDE INFORMATION AND LIBRARY SERVICE

I. Authority Under the State Plan.

Section 5.0 of the State Plan provides for statewide library services in order that all citizens of the state shall have access to the full range of reference, educational, and recreational library materials.

II. Description.

The State Library is strengthened and maintained to serve all of the state's residents directly or in cooperation with existing local libraries so that a full range of library resources is readily available to everyone in the state regardless where he lives. Supplemental library service is provided to all sizes and types of libraries throughout the state.

The State Library:

A. Serves as a statewide resource library which is available to all North Dakotans by mail, telephone, in person, or through local public, school, academic, or special libraries.

B. Supplements the collections of community libraries, public libraries, regional libraries, and school libraries with information and library resources which are specialized, infrequently used, and generally not available in local libraries.

C. Provides consultant service to public librarians and trustees to aid them in improving the operation of their library and to effect better coordination in the acquisition and utilization of library materials and services.

D. Establishes levels of certification for public librarians and standards of library service for public libraries.

E. Provides a central information center concerning libraries of the state by compiling, interpretating, and disseminating library statistics.

F. Provides statewide publicity of library needs, attainments, and services available through its publications and other media.

G. Provides grants of funds or grants of materials to qualified libraries in return for operating as a state library service center to provide library service to persons living in surrounding areas without or with inadequate local library service.

III. Factors Influencing Project.

North Dakota's low population density, predominately agricultural economy, low family income compared to the nation as a whole, lack of a major metropolitan city, and lack of large university libraries influences the State Library to substantially strengthen its role as a resource for library materials and in its coordinating role of the state's libraries, and as the apex for a total library system.

IV. Method of Administering the Project.

The State Library provides space, staff, materials, a communication network and grants to libraries to serve the aims of the project.

V. Area Served.

LIBRARY SERVICES TO SPECIAL GROUPS OF PERSONS

I. Authority Under the State Plan.

Section 6.0 of the State Plan for extending or improving library service to groups of persons which are inadequately served or receive no service at all.

II. Description.

The objectives are to identify groups of persons which are inadequately served or receive no service at all, and to experiment with library programs which will improve or extend service to the identified groups. Local and regional libraries are encouraged to sponsor activities or to co-sponsor activities or to coordinate activities with interested and appropriate organizations to improve or extend library service to groups of people. Groups of persons eligible under this project include: pre-school children, aged, home-bound, physically handicapped, migrant workers, ethnic minorities, persons in jail, nursing homes, or hospitals, and disadvantaged persons.

III. Factors Influencing Project.

The sparse population spread over a large area, low per capita income of the state, large areas of the state without general library services, largely untrained library staff, and meager tax base are factors influencing the project.

IV. Method of Administering the Project.

The State Library may contract with local libraries to provide library services to the identified groups of persons or may provide the library services directly.

V. Participating Libraries.

To be determined.

D. Grants may be made for minor remodeling of public libraries which will result in improved service.

E. Grants may be made for specific library services, such as drug education, environmental concern, etc.

III. Factors Influencing Project.

The state's low population density, pre-dominately agricultural economy, low tax valuation, and vast distances between population centers are factors influencing the project.

IV. Method of Administering Project.

A contract is drawn between the State Library and city, county, or school district establishing or operating the local library unit.

GRANTS-IN-AID FOR IMPROVED PUBLIC LIBRARY SERVICE

I. Authority Under the State Plan.

Section 9.0 of the State Plan provides for grants-in-aid on a formula basis for public library service so that local service can be improved and incentives provided for greater local support.

II. Description.

The State Library provides grants to qualifying local libraries on a formula basis.

III. Factors Influencing Project.

The state imposed mill levy limitation on local tax support, declining property valuations in many cities and counties, and small local tax resources of the cities and counties, requires state-aid payments for the improvement of public library service.

Public library service is a local responsibility and state-aid payments reflect the incentive feature for increased local support whenever possible.

IV. Method of Administering Project.

Contracts are drawn between the State Library and the participating local libraries.

INTERLIBRARY COOPERATION

I. Authority Under the State Plan.

Section 10.0 of the State Plan provides for the coordination of the library services of all types of libraries on a community, regional and statewide basis. The objective of the project is to insure that all library resources within the state are interrelated to the end that all kinds of libraries are fully utilized to make it possible for all North Dakota residents to have the opportunity to obtain the services needed.

II. Description.

A. Network for Knowledge

The North Dakota Network for Knowledge, a communication network, and a Union Catalog of books, periodicals, and audio-visual materials operated by the State Library, serves as a supplementary resource for all the state's libraries. The State Library is also the agent of the various libraries in the state for locating and borrowing needed materials from libraries outside of the state of North Dakota. Communication among the participating libraries is accomplished by WATS, IN-WATS, and CATS (telephone service), and by a private line teletype network in operation 24 hours a day between the State Library and regional public library service centers and academic libraries located at strategic points around the state.

B. Regional Networks

Regional networks encompassing various types of libraries may be established and become part of the statewide network.

C. Long-range Planning

A long-range plan for the development, coordination, and utilization of library resources and services of academic, public, school, and special libraries and information centers on a statewide and regional basis is being developed.

A project director will be added to the State Library staff who will gather or arrange to have gathered the necessary data, interpret the data, and recommend alternate courses of action to the State Librarian. An advisory committee to the project director will be established to provide input, evaluation, and guidance on the activity.

III. Factors Influencing Project.

The extremely limited library resources of the entire state and the inadequate financial support of libraries necessitate the joining together of resources through the Union Catalog and through the participation in regional and statewide planning so that maximum use is made of materials available in the most economical and efficient manner.

IV. Method of Administering the Project.

The State Library maintains the Network for Knowledge and contracts with-in state and out-of-state libraries and organizations when necessary.

NORTH DAKOTA STANDARDS

FOR COMMUNITY LIBRARY SERVICE

FROM SCHOOL MEDIA CENTERS

I. Definition

School library service includes facilities, materials, and staff for serving both students and teachers of all grade levels of each school--elementary, junior high, and secondary--and service for pre-school children if a kindergarten is part of the school program. Providing school library service is the responsibility of each school district.

Community library service is usually provided by a public library. These services consist of library materials, staff, and physical facilities which encourage an individual of any age to study any subject at any time, to start at any degree of difficulty and proceed at his own pace toward a self-determined goal, free of charge.

In communities too small to provide an adequate separate public library, community library services may, with the approval of the respective governing bodies, be provided by the school library or media center with extended services to the community. The need for this type of extended service might be recommended for any or all of these reasons:

A. Inadequate or non-existent public library service accompanied by an insufficient city tax base to provide a separate public library service.

B. The school has or plans an active and broad adult education program and takes the responsibility to provide adequate library service to meet the needs of those participating in the adult education program.

C. The school recognizes the importance of the informal educational process and believes that the provision of library service is an essential part of this process and necessary to continuing education and lifelong learning needed to maintain an informed citizenry.

II. Governmental Organization

A. The application for the establishment of this type of community library service may be initiated by either the public school administration, the public library board, or the city or county governing body.

B. If both the public school administration and the public library board, or the local governing body, agree to seek approval of a joint library facility, a joint application should be filed for approval with the State Library Commission and the Department of Public Instruction. Approval must be obtained from both state agencies.

C. All libraries shall be established and maintained according to the provisions of the North Dakota Century Code.

D. Public library boards of directors, where established, shall contract with the school board for providing extended community library service. They shall also serve as an advisory board to the superintendent concerning the development and evaluation of community library service.

E. Where a public library board does not exist, the city or county governing body and the school board should first obtain approval from the State Library Commission and the Department of Public Instruction for providing extended community library service from the school library (media center). The approval request should indicate that the city or county governing body plans to contract with the school board for the school to provide extended community library service in return for a specified amount of funds to be provided by the city or county governing board. If approval is granted, a contract should be drawn up and signed. The school board should then appoint an advisory committee of three to five persons from the community served to advise the school superintendent and librarian concerning the development and evaluation of the services provided.

III. Administration

A. In order to provide an economic and efficient operation, a school library program with extended community library service should be administered as one program, with one staff and one collection of materials.

B. Authority for administration of a school library/media center with extended library service to the community should be delegated to a certificated school media specialist by the school administrator, under the provisions of Section II-D or II-E above.

C. The person in charge should be a certificated school media specialist, and should be employed by the school district to administer the total library program, including the preparation of a budget; the selection, organization, dissemination, and use of materials; the direction and supervision of all staff members; and the preparation of a schedule for school and community use.

D. Additional staff members, professional and supportive, should be employed as needed to provide for extended library hours and for additional users during school hours for community library service. Support for such service is discussed further in the section below on Finance.

E. The school administrator should meet periodically with the school media center professional staff and the advisory board listed in II-D or II-E above, to insure that school and community library needs are met to the best possible extent with the resources available.

IV. Finance

A. School library services to students and teachers in support of the school curriculum shall be financed at no less than the minimum set by the Department of Public Instruction, and it is recommended that financing be sufficient to permit exemplary library service.

B. Financial support for community library service should come from community library funds, including state and federal support when available. Under no circumstances shall local library mill levies be reduced, but rather full joint funding should result in improved services to all. Support for school library service will remain the responsibility of the school district.

C. School library service shall not be curtailed to permit extended service to the community and community library service shall not be curtailed services without assurance of receiving additional funds for supplying additional personnel as well as additional materials with which to provide such services.

D. State Library Commission grants for community library service are contingent upon the local taxing body's levying the maximum mill levy or funds permitted by state law, participating in the State Library's Network for Knowledge, and the regulations set by the State Library Commission.

V. Records and Reporting

A. All libraries shall maintain adequate records to permit prompt and accurate reporting to their school administration, the Department of Public Instruction, and to the State Library Commission on forms provided by the State of North Dakota.

B. All reports should be prepared by the school media specialist, under the supervision of the superintendent of schools. One copy of each report should be on file in the school library; one in the superintendent's office; one with the public library board, or community board; one should be provided annually to the State Library Commission; and one with the Department of Public Instruction.

VI. Hours of Service

A. Community library service shall include access to the library at least 15 hours a week beyond the school day. The hours shall be fixed and regular and include at least two evenings a week and Saturday hours. For example: Monday and Wednesday 3:30 - 5:00; 7:00 - 9:00; Tuesday and Thursday 3:30 - 5:00; Friday 3:30 - 4:30; Saturday 1:00 - 5:00.

B. Access to the library by the community during school hours is required.

C. School library personnel shall not be required to serve extended hours in addition to full-time employment during the school day.

VII. Location

The library shall be so located as to:

A. Be easily accessible to the community.

B. Provide a separate outside entrance for community use.

C. Be adequately lighted and provided with an outdoor sign clearly stating library name and days and hours open.

D. Be accessible to the physically handicapped by having a ground floor entrance and location, without physical barriers to use.

E. Have coat racks, drinking fountains, and washrooms and toilet facilities available for use during extended hours.

F. Have some means of closing off the rest of the school during extended library hours, to avoid excessive supervision and maintenance problems.

VIII. Staff

The library should have a librarian or media specialist with the following qualifications or their equivalent and should require the person to attend conferences and workshops so that he may keep abreast of new ideas and techniques in library service:

A. School librarian - School Media Specialist Credential approved by the Department of Public Instruction.

B. Community services librarian - Standards set by the State Library Commission.

C. Sufficient supporting staff should be provided to permit the librarians to perform their professional and assigned duties, including additional hours required for community service outside of school hours.

IX. Materials Selection Policy

The library shall have a written statement of policy covering the selection and acquisition of materials.

X. Library Collection

A. In addition to the materials provided to support the school curriculum, in accordance with the Department of Public Instruction standards, the community library should provide additional material of interest to the community in the amount of at least twenty-five percent above the school materials collection. For example:

School Materials	Additional Materials for Community	Total Available to the Community
3,000	750	3,750
4,000	1,000	5,000
5,000	1,250	6,250
6,000	1,500	7,500
10,000	2,500	12,500

B. The community shall have access to the entire amount and type of materials available in the library.

C. All residents of the community should have direct access through the community library to a regional and state library collection and indirect access via inter-library loan to all library materials in our state and the nation through the community library.
